Our officers arrested several parties last night for gambling. Bail being given, they were allowed to remain at large.

Born, yesterday morning, to the wife of W. F. Hamilton, in the north end of town, a fine baby boy. All parties doing well and the father supremely happy.

Major Green's big bay horse became frightened at the street car this morning, just as the major had unhitched him and was trying to get into the buggy. He ran down the street and up Ocklawaha avenue at a frightful pace, striking one wheel against a corner somewhere about the railroad crossing, and smashing it all to pieces. J. G. Hagood and others stopped him at Gary park and had him unhitched when his owner arrived. No serious damage was done except to the wheel mentioned. When a bystander offered to trade a gentle horse for this one, the major said he would not have a horse that would not run.

C. Clark, the baker, employed at Wolfe's bakery, sent up yesterday for a STAR reporter to come and see the wedding cake he has just made for a wedding that is to take place today, up the road a few miles, but we could not learn the names of the parties. This cake is a masterpiece of the pastry art, is about six inches in height, and 16 in diameter. The body is a rich fruit, festooned over the sides and top with unboiled frosting of sugar and white of egg. The top is a representation of the gates and city wall of St. Augustine, with walks, terraces, statues, etc., and trees hanging with Spanish moss. It seemed impossible that one could have done all the work on this cake with nothing but a small paper instrument. Mr. Clark says he will make a cake for the Atlanta exposition that will last 20 years, and be as good to eat at the end of that time as when it was first baked.

F. J. Hinson, from Fort Myers, is in Ocala, and in conversation with a STAR reporter this morning said that times were fairly good in that section, some real estate selling, and best of all, the orange trees on the south side of the Caloosahatchie river are all loaded with fruit in all stages of development, from the fragrant blossom to ripe fruit. He says positively that there was not a leaf killed on that side of the Caloosahatchie. Just before leaving Fort Myers Mr. Hinson took a prospecting trip down into the Big Cypress, and to the edge of the Everglades. He was looking out for land that would be available for settlers, and says he found a good deal in the shape of islands and high ridges interspersed with the saw-grass, that was the very finest of hammock land. And as to mosquitos, he said he did not find them any worse than those in this county, though this is hard to account for. The tillable land of this favored section will not be long in being taken up.
